

GIFTS AS A MEMORIAL

Dr. Al Greene Jr.

There are so many tangible things that can add value to, and enrich our lives. But most important to many of us are the people who are closest to us—those we admire, respect, cherish, and love. We all have special relationships with people whose impact on our lives is priceless.

Honoring Others

One of the ways an increasing number of people choose to honor the special people in their lives is through charitable gifts.

Whether given in memory of a friend or loved one who has passed away or as a tribute to one still living, these special gifts can touch friends and family deeply while they improve the world around us.

BCS welcomes meaningful gifts that also honor those special to you.

Naming Opportunities

There may also be commemorative or memorial naming opportunities that interest you. We will be pleased to provide more information to you and/or your advisors as you complete your memorial gift plans.
